

THE NOK ROCKERS TROUBLE IN Slowville

The NOK Rockers smiled knowingly just before they spotted their special friend, Zoe, flipping and twirling over the rainbow.

She landed in front of them with one last double backflip. "You always make an exciting entrance," James cheered.

As they entered the diner, the NOK Rockers were shocked to hear a grumpy man with a guitar yell, "Give me the usual, Chazzy! You know, the triple whammy burger, extra greasy cheese fries, a chocolate doughnut, and a double milkshake."

The NOK Express chugged along as if it were running out of fuel.
It huffed and puffed until it finally pulled into Slowville station.
Again, they heard the creepy voice as it echoed,

“You have arrived at your destination. Now, GET OUT!”

As soon as Jammer swallowed his first bite, his appearance began to magically change and he looked younger, healthier, and happier.

The NOK Rockers leapt on stage and were thrilled to witness the healthy changes that were taking place in Slowville. “He needs a new name,” said Isaiah to the other NOK Rockers and the children surrounding them. “How about Jammin’ Jake?” yelled James. A roar of approval came from the crowd. With his shiny new guitar, Jammin’ Jake and the NOK Rockers started playing the NOK Rockers theme song.

As the NOK Rockers peered around at the colorful and happy town, they all agreed their adventure was complete. They climbed aboard the NOK Express and waved farewell to Zoe, who was riding over the rainbow and applauding them. Lastly, Zoe changed the old Slowville welcome sign to: Goville Population...Growing Stronger!
